From a News Corporation spokesperson"Mark Thompson has had a year to reflect on widespread and legitimate criticism of the governance of the BBC, its value for money and the effect its size is having on commercial competitors. He has failed at any point to address the impact that the scale and scope of the BBC's activities is having on an all-media digital marketplace which is worrying for the future of independent journalism."

My view is that MT's speech was a failure - a whimper really. It wasn't bright or inspiring in any way. The research was self-serving and laughable. He failed to respond at all to criticism that is warranted. Or really explain any reason why the BBC is criticised at all. He is in a trap over many things, most of all trying to whip up fears about Sky's success. Am flying back to family in France now. Bon week-end Fred.

Ok. Thanks a lot. Let me know during week end. I think he should hear James on the business plan and also on process on Monday before taking any decision. We can't send the business plan; its too sensitive. James has to share it with Jeremy face/face. Going to OFT and OFCOM before consultation is creating opportunities to kill the UIL. no need to do so at all. UIL will be strong and viable by Monday. No need for further scrutiny. Jeremy can make his own judgement

Thanks. The letter we just received from the OFT says that "Ofcom has been asked to provide any assistance the OFT may require in considering the UIL" - it's the first time we heard of this -besides making the roles of OFT and Ofcom more intertwined and potentially confusing, it makes it more difficult for us to resist disclosure of information from the OFT to Ofcom. Let me know. Thanks

Agree - it is ridiculous and duplicative. As for ability to implement - unfortunately, it would be possible as you would just include in the articles of incorporation with an obligation that we would vote against amendments. Jeremy should be able to say it makes no sense and reject - he has the discretion! :). Let's discuss in the morning. It will be a very personal decision for James. Let's see how we can get through this final hurdle. Take care, Fred.

Good news.If Ofcom and Oft are coming back tomorrow with the two concerns you gave me, I think we might able to get back to Jeremy asap and go to consultation asap. I just hope there are no other stuff...little weird that Oft would recommend referral just based on reacquisition of shares issue. Let me know as soon as you can in the morning. I will be in brussels but always contactable. JAMES is in NY but able to give green light. Fred

We'll prepare a brief letter from JRM to JH confirming our willingness to agree to the 4 "critical matters" listed in his letter (independent chairman, non re-acquisition commitment, prior approval of key contracts and clarification of the definition of material transactions and assets to be transferred). We'll also provide a mark-up of the UIL incorporating all the changes, including the additional undertakings listed in the OFT report that we had already agreed to (interim protection, arbitration, restrictions on termination, non solicitation). We aim to have both the letter and mark-up UIL ready to be sent by lunchtime tomorrow. On the 10 years term of the carriage agmt, the oft identifies the finite duration as a material risk, but it ultimately leaves it to the SoS to assess the time horizon considered to be relevant to ensure the effectiveness of the UIL. Para 1.19 of the oft report leaves it to the SoS to consider whether the UIL supplemented by the changes are of sufficient duration to meet the plurality concerns. Ofcom acknowledges that 10 years is long term. Given that this is not part of the "four critical matters" mentioned in JH letter, we could infer that JH accepts that 10 year is sufficient duration and we do not propose to engage into further discussion on the issue in response to JH letter. Let me know asap if that's ok. On financial viability, the OFT gives the UIL a clean bill of health. Fred

Ofcom ran this argument last night - quite frankly, I think it is weak and disingenuous. Ofcom's report says it is a "promising basis from which to work", and lists three conditions that would need to be satisfied (i) embedding the provisions in the articles, which we have agreed, (ii) undertake not to vote against the proposed changes, which we have agreed, and (iii) have an independent Chairman of the board, which we have agreed. The Ofcom report contains no suggestions that they would need to review and approve the detailed terms of reference of the committee.

FOIA publication is not automatic if information contained is confidential. It is not the case that competition authorities publish everything that they produce. If they did their work would become impossible.

We've had a lot of follow-up calls today off the back of the FT. A sense that the JH is likely to make a statement next week but no-one really has any more detail and there remains a lot of confusion on what the remedy around Sky News could be if structural but not a sale, which most assume it's not. No news from OFT. Do you have to publish it all at the same time? Can't see the issue if some is published in course of the day. It has also now become very market sensitive

OFT has asked us in the last 2 hours to publish now the analysis of business plan. We need a whole team to redact this properly and it wont be done tonight. It's a serious document which will be crucial for the transaction. Its a serious job. We can work on it speedily tomorrow. And we could have done it already if OFT had told us a week ago. But JH needs to make a statement tomorrow. Let meknow asap

Oft has everything. Only the annex might need further work but could be all done now. It will be seriously a major issue not to say anything tomorrow for the markets given there is now discussion on share prices and there will be trading going on

Am trying to get agreement on the very late asks from OFT now with James. Will let you know asap. To be honest this last minute question from OFT at 11pm is really incredible and will be a real bias in the process if we end up with no statement tomorrow am

Sympathetic that we need to look at it. Something like what the oft can do in other markets. Will consider it as part of comms bill process so we are a long way from proposing anything. Around for a chat later today?

Adam, OFT is due to meet DCMS on Monday – according to OFT, they have not excluded the possibility of requesting changes to the UIL and are discussing with DCMS on Monday. While we have received some informal assurances, we need formal action, and for OFT / Ofcom to be told as well.think it is really strange that we do not have full sign-off on the UIL text four full weeks after the consultation - particularly as any changes to the UIL could require another consultation. It would be really helpful to have confirmation from DCMS that the UIL is signed-off before we continue discussions on the carriage / brand license agreementsAs discussed previously, we also need DCMS/JH to put a firm deadline on OFT / Ofcom or they will continue to commenPlease let me know what you and JH think. BestFred

The latest update from OFT is that we are going to get further questions and comments on the operational arrangement, as well as to the UIL itself, later today or tomorrow. The comments to the UIL come out of the public consultation, which as you know, ended over 4 weeks ago. OFT has commented that the UIL comments / requested amendments, are not "fundamental structural changes" but "improvements to the current scheme", but I'm skeptical. Amendments to the UIL may require another pubic consultation period. Let's discuss once we have seen the questions / comments. Fred

Adam,Pinsent has had our comments / revised drafts since last Thursday. We have been told by [REDACTED] that they have comments, but that we will not get them until Monday (we were previously promised by Wed / Thursday). I'm not sure how they are going to provide "final advice" concurrently with providing us comments on the docs...!!!

[REDACTED] just said:" we are making considerable progress internally on discussing outstanding issues in relation to the agreements following your response to Pinsent Mason's marked-up versions. We think that the issues are narrowing considerably, and we would envisage a further iteration directly between yourselves and Pinsent Masons. We hope that can be concluded by the end of next week."!! We really need both Pinsent and Ofcom to give green light to JH next week! Consultation has to be early w/c 13th... Please!!!

Thanks, that would be great. I think our input into the negotiations on commercial issues with oft/ofcom is over and we really can't go further than this. James is considering his options this week. As you know, bringing Pinsent into the equation has delayed things for at least 1 month and cost us already a lot. Given their mark-up was very light on substance, we don't understand whats holding back DCMS lawyers to finalise with Pinsent or why Ofcom still seems to be delaying the process.

We have finally heard back from DCMS with Pinsent's comments on the Carriage and Brand Licence Agreements. The mark-ups are very light - aside from again begging the question why it has taken them so long to respond, the positive news is that there are no significant new asks. There are still a handful of points on which we will have to push back or vary Pinsent's changes, but these are relatively minor and therefore ought to be straightforward to resolve. I hope to revert to DCMS within the day. Fred

News Corporation withdraws proposed undertakings in lieu of reference with respect to its proposed acquisition of BSKyBLondon, 11 July, 2011 – News Corporation today announces that it is withdrawing its proposed undertakings in lieu of reference to the Competition Commission with respect to its proposed acquisition of BSKyB. Should the Secretary of State for Culture, Olympics, Media and Sport decide on this basis to refer the proposed transaction to the Competition Commission for a detailed review, News Corporation is ready to engage with the Competition Commission on substance. News Corporation continues to believe that, taking into account the only relevant legal test, its proposed acquisition will not lead to there being insufficient plurality in news provision in the UK."
